

KidsArtCamp

Hello arts supporters. And pardon for the intrusion. Just wanting to share news of a new Not-For-Profit group called KidsArtCamp coming to Bancroft this winter.

KidsArtCamp will offer weekly art classes for kids aged 9 to 14 years old, Art classes can mean anything from photography to drama to sculpture to fashion design. It's entirely up to teaching artists that bring their ideas forward. Each subject session will consist of 3 hours of hands on doing. Teachers will be paid for their time and talents. Supplies and materials will be provided. Costs per student will be approximately $20 per class. We are proposing 6 classes per session, with each session divided into three subjects (so two weeks per subject).

We are currently looking for kids, parents and teachers. All ideas and suggestions are welcome.

Let's make this winter a vibrant time for local youth with talent and enthusiasm. Our goal is to introduce new art forms to kids that would otherwise not discover their talents through elementary or high school art programs.

We'd love to hear your feedback. Please respond to this message or join the Facebook group called KidsArtCamp.

Please feel free to share and spread the news.
